

Testimonials

The infinite wonders of the internet have no better illustration than this remarkable website. This terrific tool can allow parents to benefit directly and immediately from decades of research and experience with child rearing techniques and principles that can make family life better - more loving and happier. Parents will find that the website provides more information than the combined wisdom of dozens of good books on the subject at a very modest cost and in a more accessible and enjoyable format. Every conscientious parent and parent/educator/trainer/family therapist would benefit from using this site, often."

— Daniel S. Kirschenbaum, Ph.D. Professor of Psychiatry & Behavioral Sciences, Northwestern University

I loved the courses and will continue to go back and use the program. I loved the way I progressed through the tests and courses, learning as I go along.
— Nancy K.

I am a psychologist with a large practice in Texas. I recommend your website and program to my clients . . . I am in complete agreement with your philosophy and methods. My clients and I love the program.
— James M.

What is FamilyIQ?

The FamilyIQ system consists of patented tools and technology that empowers parents and families to make dramatic and rewarding relationship improvements while having fun together.

Begin with the FamilyIQ Test. This assessment measures nine key components of family functioning and provides you with a customized step-by-step plan to learn and build skills that will strengthen your family. These tools include online courses, tests, articles, activity sheets, audio lectures, seminars, workshops, and more. It's the help manual that parents never received!

This award-winning material has been utilized by therapeutic programs, HMOs, therapists and individuals for over ten years. The products are designed by a team of nationally-known experts in the areas of marriage, parenting, and family issues.

FamilyIQ is the perfect tool for busy families to get the individualized support they need right from their own homes.

FamilyIQ has been seen on "The Dr. Phil Show" and on "The Tyra Banks Show."

The Learning Plan

Discover your own Personality Style, Parenting Style, Love Language and Learning Style

After taking your initial FamilyIQ Assessment Test and learning your initial FamilyIQ Number, you are ready to embark on your adventure of self-discovery and learning.

Start with Style

Everyone has a set of unique styles, from parenting to communication and personality to learning. Understanding your styles, and those of the people closest to you, will strengthen relationships and provide lasting happiness.

These patterns or styles consistently appear as people react to such things as stress, social situations, relationship issues, parenting issues and learning challenges. You and your family will discover a greater understanding, compassion and empathy for each other when your family's individual styles are identified, acknowledged and appreciated. Let FamilyIQ help you identify your styles.

Learn – Share – Earn

No matter what your level of interest—retail, wholesale, your own business—Family IQ has created a plan for you.

Visit our website or speak with the person who referred you – see which plan works best for you.

Opportunity

FamilyIQ offers an opportunity to join in our noble cause of strengthening relationships and improving families while significantly adding to the security of your financial future.

As you learn how to strengthen your family and share the impact FamilyIQ resources have had on you, the opportunity to earn income from helping others is unlimited.
